

Three Peaks Challenge

14th – 15th June 2008

DECLARATION

I [print] declare that I recognise that neither DUCK, or any authority acting on their behalf, accept responsibility for any harm, financial, mental and/or physical, which may occur during this trip. I will adhere to the event rules as explained by the representatives of DUCK prior to the trip. I agree that I will not instigate or take part in any actions that could bring DUCK or the University of Durham into disrepute. Under the regulations of the University of Durham such actions are treated as serious, and could lead to disciplinary action. I further understand that if I fail to reach Birmingham on time as per arrangement, it is my own responsibility to get there, and that DUCK can not be held financially responsible for any extra journeys.

Should I drop out after the May 15th 2008, I am liable to lose my deposit and/or pay for any costs incurred unless I find someone else to fill my place. Any costs incurred on the event are my own responsibility (e.g. taxis and trains during event). Communication with DUCK will be through email and mobiles, it is my responsibility to provide DUCK with the right information to get in contact with me.

I undertake to raise a minimum of £80 for DUCK. If I do not achieve this and do not submit the money by June 13th 2008, DUCK is entitled to make up the difference from my deposit cheque. (I understand that I have given DUCK the cheque and will be liable for any charges if it should bounce).

I understand that I am obliged to hand over all the money collected, and that it is an offence to keep or spend funds collected by me on behalf of a charity.
